Activity Diagram showing the use of Partitions

This diagram shows the use of Partitions (swim lanes) to organize the elements and these can be orientated horizontally or vertically They act as a container for the elements in the Project Browser. The diagram also shows the use of Output and Input pins connected by an Object flow.